

Neonatal Crisis Resource Management

This is a half day course designed for Southern Health Neonatal Intensive Care or Special Care staff. Typically 3 medical and 3 nursing staff attend each course. The main focus of the course is optimising multidisciplinary team behaviour and function to best care for a critically ill neonate. Participants should be familiar with basic neonatal resuscitation protocols, which will be revised during the course. The course involves an introduction to team crisis management and then some simulated scenarios involving critically ill babies. 8 am to noon, please aim to arrive at 7:45 am. If interested, contact your nurse educator at Casey, Dandenong or Clayton newborn services.
