

Southern Health Maternity Region

Southern Health is Victoria's largest health service located across South East Melbourne, Victoria, Australia. Southern Health's core catchment includes the cities of Monash, Greater Dandenong, Cardinia, Casey, Kingston and Glen Eira. Our greater community includes cities of Bayside, Frankston and Knox.

Southern Health's primary maternity catchment has been carefully negotiated and informed by the capabilities of each hospital, (including neighbouring health services), to manage increasing demand for public maternity care in the South East region and enable Monash Medical Centre (MMC) Clayton to accept tertiary referrals from the greater community as required. The following serves as a guide to the periphery of Southern Health's primary maternity booking area.
